TELSTAR STUDENT TO CALIFORNIA

Cindy Fiske, of the Telstar Track Team, hopes to compete in the National AAU Junior Olympics at Santa Clara, Calif., during Aug. 15-17. At that time, collegiate and high school athletes, under the age of 19, from 15 AAU regions, will meet in an Olympic atmosphere and compete in various sports including track and field.

Cindy, representing the Lakers Track Club, earned her invitation to the Junior Olympics by winning both the 100 and 200 meter events at the Maine AAU qualifying meet at Scarborough. She then journeyed to Greenwich, Conn., and participated in the Region I meet. Region I includes all of New England, New Jersey, and New York State. The Telstar sophomore finished second in the 100 and fourth in the 200 meter sprints.

In California she will compete in the 100 meters against the best in the country. She will represent not only Region I, but also the State of Maine. This is the first time a Maine sprinter (male or female) has made it to the national competition.

The cost for the week long trip is $800. A committee of interested residents has been formed to solicit help from area organizations. Contributions may be left at Denison's, Main Street, Bethel.

REV. CATON AND FAMILY TO BE HONORED SUNDAY

The West Parish Congregational Church will be hosting a pot luck supper on Sunday, Aug. 3, at 6 p. m. in honor of the Caton family. Rev. Thomas Caton and family will be leaving Bethel on Aug. 15 for his new parish in Idaho.

Since the community at large as well as members of the congregation will want to wish the Catons well, the day's activities will center on that purpose. The morning service at 10 a. m. at the Congregational Church will be Tom's last Sunday of preaching. The service will be followed by a fellowship coffee. All are invited and encouraged to join for worship that day.

The pot luck supper at 6 p. m. will be another opportunity to show appreciation to Tom and his family for 10 years of service in the Bethel area. Those attending the supper should bring a salad or a hot dish. Any who would like to share in a farewell gift, please leave their contribution with a committee member (Jean Ness, Stan Lord, Peggy Wright) or at Denison's on Main Street.

This is a time of mixed emotions for both the Caton family and the Church. It is always difficult to say good-bye, and break old ties and leave a loved place. Yet Tom is being called to do God's work in a new area, and the church wants to share in his excitement as he looks forward to new challenges, experience and personal growth. In many ways this is a time of joy. Do come and share the day with the Caton family.

Making Final Arrangements for Newry's 175th Anniversary - Saturday, Aug. 9

The Newry 175th celebration committee is making the final arrangements for the big day on Saturday, Aug. 9.

The anniversary program at 1 p. m. is being organized. There will be talks on Sunday River and Bear River History and Steve Wright will give a tribute to Bob Davis, who passed away on July 6 of this year.

The Mother's Club and Bear River Grange are planning the old fashioned supper which will be served at 5 p. m. in the Grange Hall. Beanhole beans, salad, rolls and of course home made pies are on the menu. Entertainment will follow the supper.

There has been much interest in the craft booths. Visitors that day will find a great variety of items on sale from food to a flea market. Anyone still interested in having a booth should call Julie Dyer (824-2419).

The day will end with a dance at the Grange Hall with music by the Lovejoys. It should be a fun time for the whole family. The lucky winner of Miss Sunday Bear will be announced at that time. Tickets can still be purchased from Peggy Wright, or from Bob Lowell, at Western Maine Supply in Bethel. Bob also has T shirts and buttons for sale.

Thursday, Aug. 7, from 9 a. m. on Sis Post will be setting up the exhibits in the Raymond Foster School. She could use help setting up. Everyone who has items for display should make sure they are labeled and have them to Sis by Thursday.

Remember the celebration is Saturday, Aug. 9. The day starts at 10:30 with a parade on Route 26 by the Raymond Foster School.

FRANKLIN GRANGE HELD MUSICIAN'S NIGHT JULY 21

Musician's night was observed at Franklin Grange July 21 by holding open house. The musicians who held the chairs were: Master, Richard Felt; Overseer, Carl Brooks; Lecturer, Olive Davis; Steward, Louis Marquette; Warden, Gordon Gardy; Treasurer, L. A. S. Clara Garly; Librarian, Miriam McAllister; Chaplain, Irene Mills; Sec. Lettie Brooks; G. K. Gerald East; R. M. Ceres; Rachel Mills; P. M. Margaret Marquette; W. P. Florin; Arline Parr; W. P. Ex. Comm. Harry Boyer; Myrtle Valley; C. W. A. Alma Abbott; Pleasant Pond and Lyndell Farr; W. P. Ernest James; Stevens Mills, was the pianist.

There were 20 non-members and 46 grangers who enjoyed the following program.

Introductory poem (original):

To the Musicians
We are honoring musicians
With talent for our show.
They are always being called on,
To help us all, you know.
If it wasn't for their kindness
To use God's gift for us
I don't know what we would do,
And they never make a fuss.
Here is our program for you
Which our musicians have arranged.

They have done this many times
In their faithfulness to the Grange.
Olive Davis

They all sang "There's Music in the Air," and our theme song "Reach Out and Touch Some One," which they did (reached out to their neighbor.)

Lettie Brooks played her harpsichord organ to the theme song and "Daisy, Daisy". Irene Mills sang "In the good old summer time"; Accordian and harmonica duet by Ernest James and Richard Felt. Margaret Marquette played two piano solos. Gordon Gardy played a saxophone solo with Lyndell Farr accompanist. Harry Boyer sang three songs with Lyndell at the piano. Russell Yates gave a comic reading. Gerald Easter rendered harmonica solos. Beulah Cole had a quiz on Maine. Miriam McAllister sang "Love's Old Sweet Song" with Lyndell at the piano.

Alma Abbott gave a reading. Carl Brooks, Richard Felt and Ernest James played several tunes. Bill Riley played some music on his small "hot weather" accordian and a sing-a-long was enjoyed.

The closing thought — a continuation of the opening poem was:

Appreciation of you,
We all would like to express.
Your entertainment was great,
You've made this meeting a success.

Thank you for visiting us,
We loved your music fine,
Come again without delay
For you're a welcome any time.

O. P. Davis

Refreshments of ice cream, drink and other goodies were served in the anteroom, while boys, Ernest James, Bill Riley, Sterling Mills, Richard Felt, Carl Brooks and Gerald Easter still played on. Some danced with the music even though it was a very hot night.

A card was sent to the chaplain, Mildred O'Brien, who is in the Stephens Memorial Hospital with a heart attack.

Newry's 175th Anniversary Celebration Will Include Honors for Mrs. Fleet, Aug. 9

A Newry citizen who will be honored at Newry's celebration of its 175th anniversary Aug. 9, is Julia Fleet, who has the distinction of being the oldest resident. Born in Waterville, Feb. 8, 1897, she is the oldest of four children of Spencer and Bertha (Aker) Brooks.

Mrs. Fleet attended school in Gorham, graduating from Gorham High School. As was often the custom of the times, she started teaching immediately, furthering her education by taking summer courses at Gorham State Teachers College, and Farmington Teachers College.

She recalls teaching at Streaked Mountain, South Paris, Waldoboro, Wilson's Mills, Magalloway, Bolsters Mills and Sunday River, Newry. She well remembers the country school. Although most pupils, called scholars then, walked to school, some from a distance were carried to school by wagon in summer and sleigh in winter. In all, she taught school for over 25 years. The building where she taught at Sunday River, known as the Lower School, is now on the National Register of Historic Places, and may be visited in the summer. It has been changed very little since Mrs. Fleet taught there.

In 1933 she married Roland Fleet and came to the home place on Sunday River where she has lived ever since. They had one son, David, and five grandchildren. David is married to the former Edith Jeannine Rolfe.

Mrs. Fleet's interests and hobbies have been numerous. A great community service which she carried on for over 35 years was superintending and teaching Sunday School and Vacation Bible School. Both local and visiting children will recall happily the hours spent with her in the Lower School. She has always enjoyed her garden and especially her pets. In the past, they raised horses, cattle, chickens, pigs and turkeys. Even now, retired and a widow, she has pet cats, a dog, a chicken and two geese. Injured animals and birds could always find a friend in her.

Mrs. Fleet belonged to the Extension Service and has been a member of the Grange for 62 years. She was a news writer for the Bethel Citizen, the Norway Advertiser and Rumford Falls Times for over 30 years. Her comments about local people and affairs were informative and colorful. For many years, she operated a weather station for the Times. Now 83 years old, Mrs. Fleet speaks of the many changes on Sunday River, the famous Artists Bridge, the roads, houses and people, both oldtimers and newcomers. She has liked and all have enjoyed her.

Walter Lord, at Pomeroy Hill nursing home, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hattisat of Brownville, Vt., were guests for breakfast Wednesday morning at Jo Sanderson's.

The Don Ruggs are doing Gladys Knights' haying this week. Mr. and Mrs. M. Cooper and grandson of Arlington are spending several days at their trailer home, here.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pike, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Nowell of Bridgton called at the Collins family and Thora Wardwell at the Five Kezars Lakes, Saturday night.

Jo Sanderson and Clyde Stanton took Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Bean of West Bethel up to Berlin, N. H., to the Northland for supper, Sunday evening. The occasion was to celebrate Sonny's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Raynor Brown have returned home after a two week trip abroad. They visited London, England, and Copenhagen, Denmark, and they cruised the fjords of Norway.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kalinowski and Doris Lawrence went with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Card to Franklin Grange, Bryant Pond, on Monday night to a musical program and they enjoyed it very much.

Community Club meeting at the hall, Wednesday, Aug. 6.

Did anyone notice Sunday, July 27, if it was hot.

More than 150 people attended "Old Home Days" at North Paris Church and Community Hall. It was a lot of work, but everyone enjoyed it and all had plenty to eat. More details next week when we will have a more up to date report on the programs and all. We were glad to welcome Lois and her organ. Eveline Barrett brought Harold "Red" Perham from Ledgeview for the day. "Red" and the late Joe Barrett were the purchasing committee in 1946. A table was reserved for pictures of by gone days and one secretary's report book was dated 1911. All was interesting.

Mrs. Grace Humbley is a pneumonia patient at Stephens Memorial Hospital.

Callers at Lawrence's were Lloyd Huntley, Sharon Scheff and Jennie and James Mason. Sunday Doris and Root went to North Waterford to a benefit supper for Albert Heath.

Mrs. Lena Kangas, Wade Rainey, Pauline Kennison, Mrs. Patty Bean, Lavinia and Kimberley called on Eveline Barrett.

For the past two weeks the Oxford County Cooperative Extension, with the help of North Paris residents, has held a Nutrition Camp Program at the North Paris Community Hall. This is an Expanded Food and Nutrition program designed to teach food preparation and the importance of good nutrition. Volunteers have been Doris Taylor, Marie Herrick, Ruth Gilman, Pamela Herrick, Elmer Taylor Jr., Jeff Taylor, Lewis Herrick, Billy Torrey and George Yeaton. Those attending have been: Buddy, Dennis Henderson, Mary Yeaton, Stacey Todd, Jimmy Todd, Peggy Cook, Darcey, Shannon and Shawn Dexter, Kelly Bartlett, Dennis Swan, Marc Bartlett, Hazel Herrick, Cory Parker, Daphne Lightbody, Harold Yeaton, Laura, Mathew Keene, Jason Cohen, Heidi, Josh Adams, Steven Manseau, Michael Manseau, Tina Manseau, Barry Noyes, Julie Paine, James Ryerson, Andrea, Stephanie Stevens, Kelly Stevens, Kenneth, Matthew Taylor, Cindy, Lavasseur, Laune Lavasseur, Arlene, Diane, Ray and Karen Tripp.

I came upon a sweetness which I at once recognized as the milkweed. It has a fragrance which could be honey and roses. No other roadside plant can compete with it in fragrance.

The summer colors wouldn't be complete without the deep orange yellow of the black-eyed Susans, a favorite of mine.

I found elderberry bushes frothing in white as pretty as Hydrangea. Daisies still claim their share of waste lands with their golden eyes and white lashes making a cool combination against the lush green around them. Robert Burns said, "The daisy's for simplicity and unaffected air."

Jewel weeds lifted their heads with open pouches to the humming birds and the humming birds.

Greenwood City

Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres.

July gives us another week. All these days have been filled with noise and happy laughter. Camps are full and there are days filled with sports, fun, mountain climbing, swimming, fishing, and other things.

Anyone can live with summer either to work or to play, as he chooses.

One day I chose to follow a road winding into the hills. Sometimes it's nice to have a byway as well as a highway. It once followed the easiest route from farm to village. Always a dirt road, but now with grass grown between the wagon tracks. Tree branches overhanging some of the boggy places. Partridges nested near, while orioles built their baskets near the brook with a wooden bridge. Deer came to drink and foxes taught their young to hunt along the bushy road-side tangle. This byway took its traffic in other days and it's nice to travel one which shows life as well as has been.

Even back then it wasn't money alone that built the road. It took weeks or months of hard labor under hot sun with few machines.

I took note of any small sound such as a rustle which meant the scurrying of a chipmunk, snapping of a bird's bill snatching an insect from the air, and the calling of the goldfinch passing overhead.

By the brook and on the wall I caught sight of a brown thrasher under a maple tree. It was my first close-up observation during the summer. He prefers dry thickets to swampy ones. Bush pastures, briar patches and tangles are his favorite haunts. He is usually shy and retiring but pays little attention to the busy farmer at planting time.

He may sit in a tree top near by and sing, "Drop it, drop it, cover it, cover it, I'll pull it up, I'll pull it up," so I have been told. So sometimes he is called the Planting Bird.

swaggers its way into August.
Coming back I strayed from the road to the fields where I heard the grasshoppers and saw them leaping ahead of me with a rasping rattle of wings. The real fiddlers are the crickets.
The sweet pungent fragrance of the freshly cut grass wilting in the sun still hovered over the fields. The wind swept valley was filled with bright sunshine as I faced the mountains and home.

Give me space where I can see;
I will roam at will and enjoy the thrill of creation's ecstasy."

Newry's Oldest Life-Long Resident To Be Honored Saturday, Aug. 9

Selma Chapman has the distinction of being the oldest life-long resident of Newry. She will be honored at the celebration of the Town's 175th anniversary, to be held Aug. 9. She was born in 1900. Her father, Don Carlos Smith, was also a Newry native, who lived near Newry Corner, and worked in this younger years at the Thurston Mill. Her mother was Edna Bailey, from Haverhill, Mass. When Selma was still a baby her father purchased the Frank Bisbee farm. There the family of seven children were brought up. Selma, being the oldest, remembers herself as being a "tom boy". She took the place of an elder son by helping her father on the farm, tending the cattle, haying and driving both horses and oxen. But it was not all work. She attended Sunday School and other events in the Union Church at Newry Corner. She particularly recalls dancing on the third floor of the old hall at the corner, which was a spring board floor, and her parents' anxiety about its being safe.

Selma received her education at the Powers School and the Branch School. The latter necessitated being transported by the "school team", a two seated wagon which conveyed the five or six children who lived too far away to walk.

Selma has been married twice, first to Duncan McPherson of Hanover, then to Chester Chapman of Newry. She is now a widow. She still lives in the house near the

Mrs. Selma Chapman

Newry-Bethel town line, where she has made her home for many years. It was formerly known as the Charlie Powers place. Selma has led a very active life. For over 24 years she worked as bookkeeper for Charles Bartlett of Hanover, a lumberman and farmer. She has belonged to several organizations for many years and has been active in them all. These include the Extension Service, Bear River Grange, The Legion Auxiliary, Bethel, Veterans of World War I Auxiliary and the Pythian Sisters, Hanover. She still continues her life-long hobbies of crocheting, sewing and knitting.

Roy Bennett of Newry to be Honored At 175th Anniversary Celebration

Among the Newry residents to be honored at the celebration of the Town's 175th anniversary on Saturday, Aug. 9, is Roy Bennett. Few people can say today, "I was born in this house and I have lived here all my life!" Roy Bennett still occupies the same home, with its 90 acres of farm land, where he was born on Dec. 25, 1901. The original house, which is now the ell, was purchased by his grandfather from a Sessions family, who are believed to have moved to Utah and became Mormons. His grandfather added the front part of the house, which has had few changes since. A built-in Arch Kettle can still be seen in what is now the shed. Here, also, his father, Frank Bennett, and his mother, Amy (Vail) Bennett, lived all their married life.

Roy attended school at the Head of the Tide and later rode the school team to the Branch School. He and his two brothers helped their father, a well known farmer, tending large herds of cattle and sheep and performing the usual many farm activities. As a youth, his chief amusements were hunting and fishing. His grandfather, who was proficient in hunting bears, a common farm pest at that time, made a bear trap for each of his grandsons. Mr. Bennett still recalls some adventures they had setting the traps in the orchard.

At an early age, Roy went to work in the woodworking mills of the Town. He worked in the Skillings mill, near Poplar Tavern, where spool stock was turned out and put to dry on the ledges across the road. These ledges can still be seen, as well as the beautiful falls, which produced the power to run the mill.

In 1922, Mr. Bennett married Janet Rae Bigger, always known as Jennie, who was born in Portage, Prince Edward Island. They returned to the farm which they shared with his parents. There their four children were born: Richard, who now lives in Rumford, and is a widower; Amy (Mrs. Bradford Jones) of Bennington, Vt.; Elden, who married Sharon Gallant, and lives in Peru, N. Y.; and Donald, who married Cheryl Grenier, and lives in Bethel. Mr. Bennett has 10 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Like most part time Maine farmers, Mr. Bennett has done many things. These include being Town Road Commissioner for many years, and driving heavy equipment for both the Town and State plowing snow.

For several years he owned and operated a crawler tractor while engaged in logging. At present, retired, he has a woodworking shop in his barn, where he turns out handles for almost any tool one can name, but especially axe handles. He also repairs tools. Some of the lathes and other tools he uses in this work, Mr. Bennett made himself.

Surveying the rolling green fields with the mountains not far off, and the silvery gray farm buildings, Roy remarked, "I never realized until I was old how beautiful it is here."

Sunday River

— Mrs. R. M. Fleet, Corres. —
Sent in by Eva Yates:
A dark cloudy "Dog Days" morning. Quite warm and looks like rain. The "Go Shoes" have been pretty well aired the last week—but why keep them on the hook all the time anyway. Flowers are in bloom—everything is pretty and those are things the "Go Shoes" enjoy and we all know winter is on its way—each day gets a bit shorter.

Monday, we three—Eva, Peggy and Joe spent the day in Lewiston—seeing the eye doctor. Exams were short and sweet with an O. K., but costly.

Peggy Blake, Eva and Russell Yates, called on Viva Whitman in Norway on their way home from Lewiston.

The next meeting of Bear River Grange will be Aug. 16 preceded by a pot luck supper. Bear River Grange will have a finger in the Newry 175th Anniversary.

Carroll (Tom) Yates returned to his home in Golden, Colo., Saturday after spending a week with relatives and friends. His first visit home in 2 1/2 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Day were Sunday afternoon callers of Eva and Russell Yates.

Bear River Grange #285 met in regular session Saturday night following a pot luck supper. Guests came from Oxford, Franklin, Rumford, West Paris, Wilton, Grange as well as from Winthrop Grange in New Hampshire. It was a nice meeting, all hands come again. Sister Gwendolyn Holt is home from the hospital and also Overseer Raymond Tripp, Sr. Both are doing as well as can be expected. We all wish them a quick trip to good health.

Sunday dinner guests of Peggy Blake were her mother, Eva, and brother, Russell, and Tater Young.

Peggy Blake and her mother were in Rumford on business Tuesday and had breakfast at Goodwin's.

Carroll Yates had supper with the Stanley Morgans at Bryant Pond Tuesday night. Wednesday's supper was with the Warren Abbott family at North Paris. Thursday's supper was with his sons and families at Jeffrey Yates'. Gary Yates was with them. Friday night Ma nailed him down for supper and his sister Laura Hutchins and niece, Lorene Billings, and baby Miranda Lynn, joined them so Laura had a short visit with him. One week is a pretty short vacation.

Peggy Blake and her mother were in Rumford on business Tuesday. What a hot old day. Since then we have had a little break from the heat. Won't cold weather be a welcome change?

The Week in Washington

by Sen. George J. Mitchell

Federal Pre-emption of State Credit Laws

The Senate Banking Committee's Subcommittee on Consumer Affairs, which I chair, held a hearing last week on legislation which would affect the role the Federal government can play in pre-empting state consumer interest rates.

Testimony was heard on two proposals. The first is legislation which would remove Federally imposed ceilings on permissible discounts for cash purchases. It also proposes imposition of surcharges for credit card purchases.

The second is a proposal to establish a National Consumer Usury Study Commission, whose function would be, among other things, to examine if and where Federal intervention in state consumer credit laws is warranted.

The hearing raised a much broader question—whether the Federal government should continue to extend its reach into areas of economic regulation previously left to the states.

During the past year, Congress has pre-empted state consumer usury ceilings relating to housing and mobile home loans. The Congress has further pre-empted the states in this area by authorizing any lender to impose consumer loan rates up to one percent over the Federal Reserve Board rate, regardless of state usury ceilings.

It is likely that lenders and creditors will ask Congress to pre-empt the remaining state consumer ceilings.

This presents a very interesting situation—banks and other organizations who normally say they do not want any more federal regulation are now asking the Federal government to override state laws.

There are many state banking regulators and officials, consumer organizations, members of Congress and individual citizens who believe that this would unnecessarily and unjustifiably usurp the right of each state to determine its own usury ceilings based upon local needs and conditions.

Most people want less federal intervention in their lives—not more. I happen to think that the people of Maine are in the best position to decide what the laws ought to be regarding consumer interest rates. The central government in Washington does not have the knowledge, nor the expertise, to deal with it.

I believe we ought to let the states handle their own business whenever and where ever they can, I am, therefore, opposed to further federal regulation where the need is not clear, compelling and necessary.

The proposed National Consumer Usury Study Commission would be charged with closely examining this issue. The Commission would report to the President and to Congress in a year on what need exists, if any, for further federal pre-emption of state consumer usury laws.

Last week's hearing was my first since taking over the chairmanship of the Consumer Affairs Subcommittee.

The Subcommittee in the past has been very active in working to protect the interest of consumers through such legislation as the Truth-in-Lending Act, the Equal Credit Opportunity Act, the Fair Credit Billing Act, and, more recently, reform of the Truth-in-Lending Act.

I intend to continue to lead the Subcommittee in its important consumer protection work.

Toll Free Numbers

As a representative of the people of Maine, I am in Washington as their voice in government. I am also here to help citizens with any problems they may have in dealing with the Federal government, whether it be to obtain information about Federal programs, to get assistance in dealing with the various Federal agencies, or simply as a sounding board for complaints.

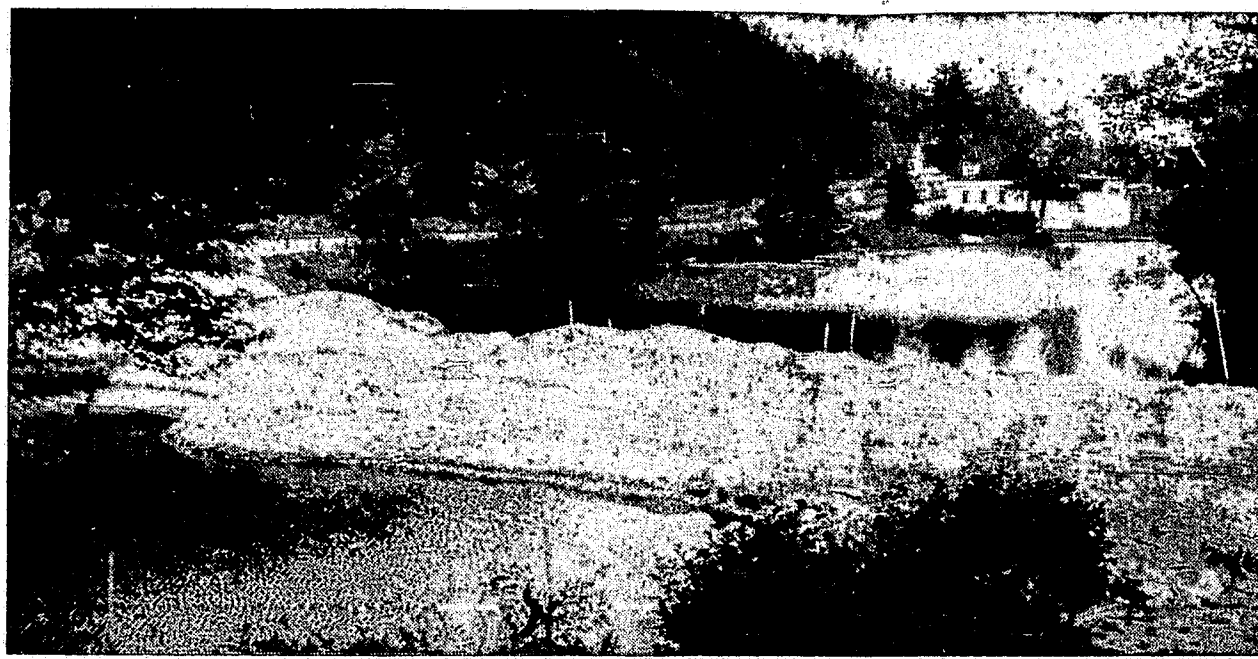

I frequently hear complaints about the difficulty people have in finding out where to turn for information about the various Federal programs.

Similarly, many people have complaints or information which they want to turn in to the Federal government—such as discrimination complaints, or reports of waste or fraud within a particular Federal program.

Traditionally, Washington has not been the easiest city in which to obtain information. But there is a little publicized list of telephone numbers at the various departments and agencies that will mete out information.

These numbers are toll-free. And they offer information ranging from recorded farm news to information about Medicare to where to find affordable flood insurance.

There is also a hotline number for runaways or their parents to started early in July, will provide a new bridge to carry the Greenwood Road over Alder River and relocate the road's intersection with Route 26. This is a State project, contracted to D. L. Punch, Jr., Inc., of Livermore Falls, at a cost of $128,830. In the distance is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Chase.

YOUTH CONSERVATION CORPS OFFERS OPPORTUNITY TO LEARN ABOUT FORESTS

Between early June and late August, more than 2,800 youths 15 through 18 from 15 Midwestern, mid-Atlantic and New England States and the District of Columbia will be working outdoors and learning about forest lands in the Youth Conservation Corps (YCC).

All are enrollees assigned to projects managed by the Eastern Region of the Forest Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture. All projects except three are in the 14 National Forests of the Region. The three are at the National Arboretum in Washington, D. C., the Agricultural Research Center in Beltsville, Md., and the Patuxent River Naval Air Station in Patuxent River, Md. More than 70%—1,996—of the enrollees have been assigned to 26 camps established for youths who live too far away to commute to projects locations.

Most of the enrollees are residents of the States in which their projects are located. The program gives them a chance to earn extra money during summer vacations. They come from all types of social and economic backgrounds.

Enrollees tackle such jobs as thinning stands of trees, clearing trails, improving wildlife habitats, and repairing or building developed recreation sites.

The program is designed to be educational. Enrollees are taught about problems that occur in the day-to-day management of forests. They learn professional and scientific techniques developed to insure regeneration of vegetation, wildlife, and water resources.

The program always attracts a surplus of applicants. Youths accepted for YCC assignments for this summer were selected at random from lists of high school students who applied early this spring.

Camp Bog Brook, which is headquartered at the Sunday River Inn, has enrolled 40 youngsters for an eight week program. The enrollees' homes are located as far north as Houlton and as far south as Boston. They have a common bond; residing, working, and learning together in the White Mountain National Forest.

BETHEL HISTORICAL SOCIETY TO MEET AUG. 7

Pre-historic Indian sites on the upper Androscoggin will be the featured topic at the monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society to be held next Thursday evening, Aug. 7, at 7:30 in the Meeting Room of the Dr. Moses Mason Museum. Speaker for the evening will be Dr. Michael Gramly of the Maine State Museum. Dr. Gramly has done extensive work in the Berlin area as well as surveying along the Androscoggin. The meeting is open to anyone interested and will be followed by refreshments.

ent River Naval Air Station in Patuxent River, Md.

More than 70%—1,996—of the enrollees have been assigned to 26 camps established for youths who live too far away to commute to projects locations.

Most of the enrollees are residents of the States in which their projects are located. The program gives them a chance to earn extra money during summer vacations. They come from all types of social and economic backgrounds.

Enrollees tackle such jobs as thinning stands of trees, clearing trails, improving wildlife habitats, and repairing or building developed recreation sites.

The program is designed to be educational. Enrollees are taught about problems that occur in the day-to-day management of forests. They learn professional and scientific techniques developed to insure regeneration of vegetation, wildlife, and water resources.

The program always attracts a surplus of applicants. Youths accepted for YCC assignments for this summer were selected at random from lists of high school students who applied early this spring.

Camp Bog Brook, which is headquartered at the Sunday River Inn, has enrolled 40 youngsters for an eight week program. The enrollees' homes are located as far north as Houlton and as far south as Boston. They have a common bond; residing, working, and learning together in the White Mountain National Forest.

WALKING WITH JESUS CHRIST
Yes, Yes, Yes—being a Christian is more than going to Church, prayer meetings and fellowship suppers—wearing dress up clothes and a saintly look. It all starts in Christ—being a part of Him, as it is said—under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit—being in the fellowship of the Holy Ones, the Saints—the local assembly, a body of true believers. They may take on the names of denominations, but they are always led by a Pastor who spends hours on his knees in prayer seeking God's wisdom and guidance for his flock.

Being a Christian as we may read of in Proverbs 31: 10-31 is a Godly wife and mother—one who can wear a crown of righteousness as she vacuums the floor and spans her child in love of course. A father, a husband as he labors beneath a cantankerous truck, even praising God as oil drips onto his face—the young lady serving as a waitress bringing trays of food to satisfy the hungry ones while praying she could satisfy the spiritual emptiness in their hearts, my how one wishes to see a person unashamedly say "grace"—asking God's blessing on the food—giving thanks for it.

A Christian is the person in the garden wedding—thanking God—as the bugs—blackflies chew on his hide. Christians are everywhere—in prisons, shops, woods, and nursing homes. The greatest privilege the elderly have are these precious golden moments—even hours of praying for others—holding up those with burdens both great and small; watching children playing and asking God's richest blessing on them.

A Christian is one who tries to glorify God in his work and time of relaxation—often putting aside his own comfort to cheer up a needy one—frequently giving up the crown of victory as may be found in a physical game or race, that the others may share in the fun of being victorious—"bringing home the bacon." Yes, being a Christian is a compliment to God—as he bestows His loving kindness upon His servants who in turn share with others the fruits of joy—peace and gladness.

THE BETHEL RED SOX Little League Team took second place this season with an 11-4 record. Last Sunday afternoon in the semi final play-off game they came from behind in the 6th inning to gain a 5-4 victory. The final is July 31 at 5:30 in Bryant Pond against Rumford Point. The way the boys played and the attitude they displayed on and off the field has been a credit to the Bethel area.

White Mountain National Forest

Campground Hosts Clara and Jim Bishop are having a busy summer at Basin Campground. The Bishops volunteered to assist the public during the absence of a Forest Service employee in the campground. Answering questions is a large part of their job. Some of the questions they "field" are below:

Where is the nearest church?
How do you call out if there is trouble?
What kind of a snake is that?
How long has this area been in operation?

The Bishops, like many other volunteers across the nation are donating their time to perform a valuable service to the camping public they meet and to the people of the United States.

Another local Forest Service volunteer, Sue Wight, is donating her time to prepare sketches of scenic areas on the District. Sue's sketches will be part of a "Recreation Opportunities" brochure that will summarize opportunities present in one publication. Sue's contribution will enhance the public's use and enjoyment of their National Forest.

The District is in the process of completing assigned goals for fiscal year 1980 in landline maintenance, trail maintenance, and timber sales. The Young Adult Conservation Corps (YACC) is assisting with the first two. The Youth Conservation Corps is finishing work on the Burnt Mill Brook Trail. The timber crew is preparing approximately 12 small sales (20 to 150 cords) which will be advertised shortly. The sales will enhance wildlife habitat values by restoring old openings to their original shape and size and by favoring old apple trees in the openings.

With the trimming of YACC funds from our budget, Aug. 13 marks the termination of our program. As we have reported here throughout the last four months, the young men and women in the YACC program have made a significant contribution to the White Mountain National Forest and the people of the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shimamura went to the bean hole bean festival at Norway fairgrounds Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Heibert of Hartford, Conn., were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ayler.

Be Strong
Be strong.
We are not here to play, to dream, to drift.

We have hard work to do and loads to lift;
Shun not the struggle - face it;
His God's gift.

Be strong!
Say not "The days are evil. Who's to blame?"
And fold the hands and acquiesce - oh shame!
Stand up, speak out, and bravely, in God's name.

Be strong!
It matters not how deep intrenched the wrong,
How hard the battle goes, the day how long;
Faint not—fight on!
Tomorrow comes the song.

SENATOR WILLIAM COHEN From Washington

Last week, with other Senators and Congressmen, I met with members of the Canadian Parliament to discuss the pending fisheries treaty between our two countries. The private four hour meeting helped to clarify the positions of the Canadians and the New England members of Congress. The exchange was frank and detailed.

For the Canadian participants, the meeting was something of an education in the workings of the Senate. Many of the Canadian officials expressed concern that only two members of the Senate could block ratification of a treaty considered to be of national importance in Canada. Some members of the Canadian Parliament had expected that a treaty negotiated and approved by the administration was for all intents and purposes ratified.

I told the Canadians, frankly, that the U. S. Senate is not a rubber stamp for any treaty negotiated by any administration. The Senate must ratify a treaty by a two-thirds majority. The ratification process involves extensive hearings and floor debate. In the case of the fisheries treaty now pending before the Senate, many serious questions have been raised about the advisability of certain provisions agreed to by this Administration.

I have raised at least three questions which I believe must be answered to the Senate's satisfaction before considering this treaty. Many of my colleagues share my doubts about this treaty and await answers to many questions.

First, the treaty, if ratified, would be in force in perpetuity. This is not a temporary treaty that can some day be fully renegotiated. While the United States has entered into permanent treaties with countries before, the U. S. has never agreed to a treaty governing the use of resources that will last forever. The provisions for adjusting the quotas of fish taken from the Gulf of Maine and Georges Bank are stringent and restrictive. The basic provisions regulating the fisheries cannot be renegotiated.

Second, the treaty links the fisheries management scheme of the Gulf of Maine and Georges Bank to the settlement mechanism of disputed boundaries between the United States and Canada. Both countries have established 200 mile economic zones, which at some points overlap. The American negotiating team proposed this linkage against the advice of New England fishermen.

I believe that the course of the negotiations has shown that the American team placed a greater importance on the settlement of boundary disputes, than on the protection of the economic integrity of New England's fishing industry.

Canada agreed to linkage only after the American team had accepted a complicated management scheme that allowed the Canadians to exercise broad authority over the management of fish stocks in undisputed American waters while the United States failed to acquire similar authority in undisputed Canadian waters. I do not believe that the treaty establishes a truly cooperative management scheme of

BETHEL PLAYGROUND OLYMPICS NEXT WEEK

Friday, Aug. 8, is the date set for this summer's big event: the Bethel Playground Olympics. What is it?

It is a day of field events and silly competitive activities: the 440 yd. dash, running broad jump, basketball toss, egg-spoon race, a giant obstacle course, a watermelon eating contest, plus many others. This event is open and free to all Bethel children going into grades kindergarten through 6, regardless of their having attended the summer playground or not. It is sponsored by the Bethel Recreation Board and run by the playground staff and volunteers.

Don't miss this exciting day! The date is Aug. 8 at 9 a. m. (no one admitted after 9:30), at the Gould Academy Athletic Field. In case of rain it will be moved into the Field House.

North Woodstock

— Mrs. Linda Fraser, Corres. —
Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Abbott spent the week at their home on the Billings Road.

Mary-Margaret Young, Hartford, Conn., arrived over the week end and will be spending a few weeks with her grandmother, Mary Knights.

Mrs. Shari Burnham and Nikie spent last week at their camp in Ellsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Davis and girls enjoyed their vacation camping in Saco.

Mrs. Linda Fraser along with Mrs. Cindy Cox, Mrs. Myra Foster and Miss Gwen Maxwell, East Bethel, and Mrs. Huldah Mendez and Mrs. Jo Foster, Dixfield, were in Brunswick Wednesday to attend the production of "Kiss Me Kate" at the Brunswick Music Theatre.

Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fraser, were in Dixfield to pick up their daughter, Mary, who had been at Circle L Camp in Livemore for the previous week.

Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fraser and Mary and Mrs. Doris Fraser and Mrs. Edna York of Bethel, visited Mrs. Alan Fraser of Andover.

Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fraser and Mary, called on Mr. and Mrs. Terri Twitchell of Oxford.

all fish stocks in disputed and undisputed waters, which should be the overriding concern.

Finally, many of the provisions place our domestic fishermen at a competitive disadvantage vis-a-vis Canadian fishermen. The treaty for example, would effectively halt future growth of the scallop industry. New England scallopers, under the agreement, would never be allowed to take more scallops than they took from the Gulf of Maine and Georges Bank last year. American fishermen are also being asked to accept reductions in their catch of other species, such as pollock.

I will actively oppose this treaty on the Senate floor unless these areas of concern are satisfactorily met by a modification of the treaty. It has been apparent for some time that this treaty is unfair to our fishermen, but I continue to believe that an equitable treaty can be devised in consultation with the Senate.

Mrs. Noyes, Native of Sunday River, Being Honored by Newry on Aug. 9

A Sunday River, Newry, native who will be honored at Newry's 175th Anniversary on Aug. 9 is Mrs. Mertie Stow Noyes, Wilton. She was born June 21, 1898, in the house where the Stows had lived for three generations. It is now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dennis. Her father was Leroy Stow, son of Newell and Polly Foster Stow. Her mother was Mertie Ina Stow, daughter of Greenleaf and Rachel Keene Emery. Mertie was the youngest of six children. Since the family moved to Dixfield when she was only six, her memories of early Sunday River are mostly hearsay.

After two years the family moved to Wilton where she received most of her education, graduating from Wilton Academy in 1916. She worked in a shoe factory office and taught one year in elementary school. In 1922, Mertie married a former schoolmate, Lauriston Noyes, who was a high school teacher and coach, whose work took them to Whitefield, N. H.,

Wilton, Putnam and Naugatuck, Conn. For reasons of Mr. Noyes' health, the family moved back to Wilton, where they bought a farm near East Wilton, where they still live. At one time they raised hens, Jersey cattle and had an orchard.

Mertie's hobbies and interests are numerous. She has always been an active worker in church and women's clubs and in the Wilton Historical Society. She also braids rugs, makes quilts, embroiders, writes poems for local occasions and takes care of many house plants. Her special hobby in the summer is raising many flowers which she happily shares with friends and neighbors.

Mr. Noyes especially enjoys woodworking, making many nice pieces, which he gives away to family and friends. He also is very interested in the historical society and is an ardent student of local history.

The Noyes have a daughter, Helen, and a son, Leroy, as well as six grandchildren to enjoy.

Upton

— Mrs. Arline Bernier, Corres. —

We offer sympathy to the family of Esther Williamson. Mrs. Williamson was a gracious woman who had the ability to make each feel special and important. The cookies she packed in school lunch boxes were coveted and gotten by swaps or bribes or any way possible. My personal fondness for this lady stems from the times her daughter and I were allowed to toast buttered soda crackers on her spotless stove. A small thing, but it indicates her fine character that she would give more concern for children's pleasure than her work.

The church service Sunday had a very light attendance. Mike and Nancy Antonelli and Edd Davis of Plattsburg, N. Y., called on the Bernier's Sunday. The Andre Berniers, Joe Berniers, Dan Periaulis, and the Korhons were among recent Heritage Farm guests during the week end.

Wilton, Putnam and Naugatuck, Conn. For reasons of Mr. Noyes' health, the family moved back to Wilton, where they bought a farm near East Wilton, where they still live. At one time they raised hogs, Jersey cattle and had an orchard. Mrs. Noyes' hobbies and interests are numerous. She has always been an active worker in church and women's clubs and in the Wilton Historical Society. She also braids rugs, makes quilts, embroiders, writes poems for local occasions and takes care of many house plants. Her special hobby in the summer is raising many flowers which she happily shares with friends and neighbors.

Mr. Noyes especially enjoys woodworking, making many nice pieces, which he gives away to family and friends. He also is very interested in the historical society and is an ardent student of local history.

The Noyes have a daughter, Helen, and a son, Leroy, as well as six grandchildren to enjoy.

Safety Tip of the Week:
Learn First Aid for Choking Signs to Watch For

(1) In contrast to a heart attack victim, who can still breathe and complain of pain, a person who is choking can neither breathe nor speak. The airway is blocked so no air can pass through the vocal chords.

(2) A choking person turns blue, because oxygen is not reaching body tissues.

(3) He then becomes unconscious because oxygen is not reaching the brain.

Knowing on-the-spot first aid procedures for choking may mean the difference between life and death. The basis for the maneuvers is simple. Even in the midst of choking and inability to breathe, a great deal of air remains in the lungs and if the lungs are properly compressed, the air can be driven out with enough force to "pop" the obstruction out of the throat and mouth. Consider taking a first aid class to learn these and other important steps of saving a life.

Contact First Aid Training Office—Arlene Greenleaf at 824-2744 for more information on First Aid Classes being offered to persons in the Bethel area.

Speakers involved in the medical field will be presenting various classes. Childbirth movies, slides, handouts, will also aid parents in childbirth education. A registration fee will be charged. Parents should register now. For further information, please contact instructor Donna Richardson, Chapman, 836-2233 or the Health Center, 824-2193.

Verna Swan called on me Monday afternoon. Richard Belt called in the morning on Grange work. Carl and Lettie Brooks called Sunday night. Lettie and I rehearsed some. Lettie put a big piece of custard pie in my refrigerator and I found it Tuesday noon, which was instantly devoured. She put it in there Monday night when they picked me up to go to Grange. What would anyone do without these good friends?

The Ledgeview Auxiliary held a food sale Friday morning at West Paris in front of the hardware store for the benefit of Mr. and Mrs. Wyman Huston who lost their trailer by lightning on Route 26 July 11.

Elton Records and Northern Junction held their rehearsals here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Hall and family, Alaska, have been staying with Mr. and Mrs. James Mason for three weeks. They returned to Alaska Friday.

Jerrold Mason is happy to be owning a new pony.

Mrs. Marta Clements was in Bethel recently, spending a few days with her mother, this being her mother's birthday.

The storm of July 11 came in on James Mason's telephone and ruined it so no another one had to be installed.

Eric Clements spent five days visiting his friend, Bob Flske, in Bethel. They worked on rockets etc. for Mollycocked day. They had a booth showing the things they have done along electronics etc. These hot days and showers have helped the gardens immensely.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Davis and family and Carroll Thurlow flew to Maine in Victor's plane and visited relatives here. They stayed with Mrs. Dorothy Davis while here. Jenny stayed with her grandmother awhile.

Mr. and Mrs. James Mason held a family get-together a week ago at their home. They had a picnic on the lawn. Later they all went to Molly Cocked swimming pools for a swim. This is the first time that the Thurlow brothers and sisters have been together for about 12 years.

Becky and Barbie Mason have been visiting their father, Don Mason, Jr., and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Mason Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Grover took their church class to Baxter Park last week end for an outing. There were about six who went along.

Jim Mason has been laid up with infection stemming from an injury when a stick rolled on his foot. I believe he dropped it on his foot. He has just returned to work after three weeks in bed.

The bride is the daughter of Roger and Carolyn McGuire of North Rumford. The groom is the son of Hanson and Elaine Morton of Andover.

Pam Morton, sister of the groom was maid of honor. George Morton, Jr., North Rumford, cousin of the groom was best man.

The bride wore an off white floor length dress with a fingertip veil and carried a bouquet of daisies. The maid of honor wore a blue floor length dress and her bouquet was also daisies.

A reception followed at the Town Hall. The wedding cake was made by Mrs. Nancy Barker.

Regina McGuire, sister of the bride, circulated the guest book. Paula Morton, sister of the groom, attended the gift table.

pite the hot weather to enjoy the "Old Home Day Activities" and the Friday Club's Flower Show.

Eldwin Morton was returned to the Rumford Community Hospital on Sunday, July 27.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Decker of Yarmouth and Mrs. Roselle Harlow of Mexico were week-end guests of their sister, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hutchins.

Mrs. Hanson Morton and Mrs. Dwight Hutchins, and daughter, Marsha, were in Lewiston Monday, July 28, to see the doctor and have Marsha's arm checked.

The box lunch social connected with the Old Home Days Celebration was very poorly attended. Due to lack of public response to the ribbon sale and raffles, the "Old Crow Band" concert on Sunday was cancelled.

Several people have expressed the desire to make this "Old Home Days" celebration a yearly affair. With a little more public participation it could be done. After Labor Day there will be a public meeting to try to get some interest in this project.

The Andover Little Leaguers played their last game of this season against Greenwood. They have had a fairly good season, and are already making plans for next year.

On July 25, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Cutting were in Naples and met Charles S. Cutting and took a boat ride on Long Lake to Harrison in his new boat. There they had a picnic supper before going to the Charles S. Cutting home in South Windham and enjoyed a late night cook out.

Andover Friday Club general chairpersons Betsy Mixer and Josephine Poor wish to thank all who were involved with the show including Friday Club members and Historical Society members, who graciously loaned their building for the Flower Show. Most importantly, they extend thank yous to those who took time to arrange and bring in the 111 entries which were registered that morning. The Friday Club sponsors the Flower Show just for you, without your participation the show would not be the huge success it is. Thanks to the judges this year: Mrs. Bertha Shoemaker and Mrs. Marion Houde, members of the Town and Country Garden Club, Rumford. Of interest to the show's participants, the judges general review and critique included the advice to condition flowers in advance if arrangement is to hold up; groom the leaves as well as the blooms; arrange flowers in proportion with the containers; and to please preserve those flowers on the endangered species list.

GENEALOGICAL COMMITTEE TO UNDERTAKE SURVEY

A genealogical survey will be undertaken in August by the Bethel Historical Society. The Society is hoping that each family currently living in town will complete a survey form which will list the names of members of the family and their genealogy with any other pertinent information they may wish to provide. This will preserve a vital historical resource for the future and be very useful for a town history which the Society hopes to publish in the 1980's. The Genealogical Committee consisting of Alden Kennett, chairman; Mabel Kennett, Jean Ness, Judy Barker, Floribel Haines, Gloria Snyder and Agnes Haines will supervise the survey and asks for volunteers to distribute and collect forms in their neighborhood. The Committee is hopeful that all forms will be completed by the time of next year's Indian Raid celebration in August of 1981.

Other business will be to review the results of sponsoring July's International All-Star Circus appearance in Bethel and to look ahead to planning for the Christmas parade and tree lighting ceremony on Friday, Dec. 12. In the next few months the chamber directors will be assessing the year's activities and planning for a calendar of chamber-sponsored activities in 1981. The first 1981 event is the annual February winter carnival which is scheduled for the winter vacation week.

NORWAY RADIO STATION MANAGER TO MEET WITH LOCAL CHAMBER DIRECTORS

On Tuesday morning, Aug. 5, Dick Gleason, manager of radio station WOXO in Norway will meet with the directors of the Greater Bethel Chamber of Commerce. This year the chamber allocated nearly 20% of its anticipated income to advertising in the Maine Publicity Bureau publication, "Maine Invites You", and results in terms of interest shown in the Bethel area through mail responses have been quite satisfactory. Therefore, possibilities for continuing this advertising program in the winter and in next summer's MPB publications will be on this and future meeting agenda.
